We are often asked to give the soil reaction (pH) preferences of certain wild flowers. To answer that question we will give our experience here. Drainage, moisture, temperature, light, air circulation, fertility, and soil texture appear to be the controlling factors in where a plant grows. Meet these requirements and forget (pH) preferences.

We have many items in quantities too small to list, Inquiries invited.

"SPHAGNUM MOSS FOR SEED GERMINATION"

Leaflet No. 243 — 5¢ with seed orders only. Above leaflet published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

SPHAGNUM MOSS in ground form ready to use. Packed in Polyethylene bags which do not leak. Reclosed easily with rubber band. 1 lb., or about 1 peck. Postpaid in the U.S. for $1.50.

PLANTING DIRECTIONS

Plant small quantities and fine seeds in flats or tin cans. We sterilize good rich soil and mix with equal volume of vermiculite (for good drainage; also, the ability of vermiculite to hold water), filling container to about 1 inch of the top. Balance of container is filled with finely milled, moistened sphagnum moss. For containers we prefer five quart cans obtained at gas stations, cut down to five inches. Holes are punched in bottom for drainage. Cover larger seeds with moss, but merely sprinkle fine seeds over the moss. For complete instructions see Leaflet No. 243, U.S.D.A. (obtained from Supt. of Documents, Washington, D.C. 5¢).

After planting, containers are set in frame outside for the benefit of the freezing and thawing so necessary to germination of many species. Should some fail to germinate the first season, hold over until the following spring.

We wish to contact persons who collect, or could collect seed of native wild flowers or other rare flowers. Seed should be properly ripened and true to name.
